The kids from the Peanuts comic strip grow up in this multi-award-winning parody in its first UK production.

When CB's dog dies, he contemplates what happens after death. With his friends too stoned, inebriated or institutionalised to provide any answers, a chance reunion with a childhood friend offers him the answers he seeks, plus some he never expected, changing his and his friends' lives forever.

Familiar with the comic strip or not, this play is for anyone who likes to laugh. Adults only.

Enjoy budget air-line style pricing in The Studio so the earlier you book, the cheaper the ticket. There's a limited number available for just £5 so book now and save money.

Recession is only for now.

Prop 8 is only for now.

This show is only for now.

Your mother-in-law is only for now.

It sucks to be all of them. I'm leaving a comment with a much better idea.
